WELCOME

to the FMVA STUDIO CRAWL

The members of Fargo Moorhead Visual Artists welcome you to the 15th annual Studio Crawl — whether it's your first time or you're a veteran attendee. There is always something new to experience from the area's evolving artists.

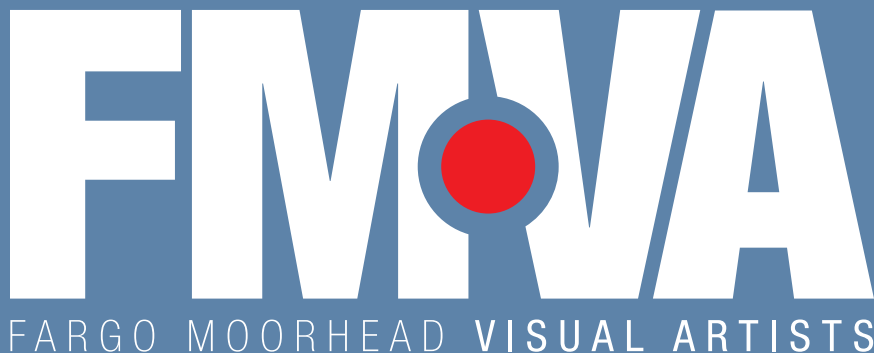

The Studio Crawl is a one-of-a-kind, special event because artists invite you into their studios where the “magic” of the creative process happens. The doors are open to all — take a closer look, experience the creative process, and ask questions.

Browse through this brochure and you will find a talented, diverse mix of both emerging and established visual artists. They participate because they believe in the value of engaging the public and making art accessible to all. They enjoy showcasing and discussing how they create using various techniques and concepts. Enjoy the experience of interacting with the artists and witness how, why, where, and what they create.

FMVA is a growing organization that provides many opportunities for our regional visual artists, patrons, and art audiences. Volunteers run FMVA — board members, technology support, and the members who coordinate education, communications, membership, programming, networking, and professional practices committees. These generous individuals help FMVA continue to advance in supporting the arts and artists, collaborating with community, and providing artists with a collective voice.

“Thank You” for supporting the arts! We hope you enjoy the weekend mingling on the creative, artistic side of our community. Do us a favor — tell your friends about Fargo Moorhead Visual Artists and the Studio Crawl!

SARAH DOTZENROD FMVA Board President

The FMVA thanks these businesses for providing our artists with discounts as a benefit of FMVA membership.

Stop by and check out what has been happening in my studio/gallery the past year. My work is created with one of the oldest mediums still in use today called encaustic, which is made of beeswax, damar resin, and pigment. As I work, I build up and fuse layer upon layer of molten wax. As it begins to harden, I scrape, carve into, mold, and burn these layers to reveal underlying compositions that are exposed by this tactual process. All are welcome to view and feel the art that I have created.

If you are in the mood for a short drive to Glyndon, I would love to have you as my guest in my studio. I paint in oil, and my subjects vary from people to animals to landscapes or whatever else I feel needs painting. I paint in what I'd call a natural realism style—mostly from photos that I have taken from my travels in this area or beyond, and I am always anxious to push paint around on a new canvas to see what develops. I look forward to seeing you!

It's the time of year again to explore the local art scene. My media is wood and stone, and my talent is transforming the raw material into vessels, plates, or wall hangings—utilizing dyes, textures, finials, and resins—and completing the piece with a variety of finishes. I will be demonstrating throughout the Studio Crawl.

BRAD BACHMEIER

The board of the FMVA has chosen Brad Bachmeier as their 2018 Member of the Year to celebrate his long career as a professional ceramic artist and to honor his advocacy of public art and arts education.

Brad is program coordinator and professor of art education at Minnesota State University Moorhead, and he's a sought-after workshop presenter and artist in residence.

He has served on the board of directors for The Plains Center for Creativity, The Rourke Art Museum, and The Arts Partnership, and he is currently vice chair of the North Dakota Council on the Arts.

He has an extensive resume of solo, two-person, and multi-artist exhibitions all over the country, and his list of awards, grants, and honors includes the 2009 North Dakota Governor's Award in Art Education and a nomination for the Carnegie Foundation's U.S. Professor of the Year in 2017. Particularly impressive honors include having a piece of work in former First Lady Michelle Obama's personal collection, being one of only 19 brick sculptors in the United States, and receiving the 2007 National NICHE Award in wheel-thrown ceramics.

Thank you, Brad, for your valuable service to our arts community and for your friendship—and especially for choosing to work in education to inspire the next generation of great art teachers!
